

a new leaf rapid rehousing program

assistance finding a home

A New Leaf's Rapid ReHousing program provides a unique solution to individuals and families across the Valley currently experiencing homelessness by providing rental subsidy and case management.

This program reduces the number of months it would typically take to save for an apartment or home. with assistance used for up to 12 months depending on case management assessment and verification of household income and debt.

In addition to financial assistance, this program offers temporary case management, support services, workforce assistance and referrals to additional services to participants in order for them to address their challenges and maintain housing stability in the long-term.

RRH clients are eligible for move-in costs (including application fees), as well as rent and utilities to be paid based on financial standards that are tailored to meet the needs of each individual. The assistance can be utilized for up to 12 months if needed, unless the client exceeds the maximum financial assistance available in a 3-year period.

The amount of assistance provided is based on case management assessments and verification of household income and household debt.

how to get help and eligibility

All single participants are evaluated according to the Service Prioritization Decision Assistance Tool (Vi-SPDAT) through the Single Coordinated Entry System.

All families are assessed using the Family Service Prioritization Decision Assistance Tool (Vi-FSPDAT) through the Family Housing Hub. All participants that score in the RRH range with the assessments are considered eligible and then referred to RRH providers.

Families should call the Family Housing Hub at (602) 595-8700.
Individuals should call centralized services at (877) 211-8661.

location

Program staff meet participants at locations across the community, there is no physical office. Services are offered where they are needed most, with several geographic areas of emphasis.
